NEW JUNIOR TEAMS AT ARPC

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

WOW! What a gun show we had March 7th & 8th. After every gun show I keep saying "this was the best one yet," and they just keep getting better. Our gun show committee did an outstanding job. Thank you, guys.

Spring is here. That means better weather is coming, vacations are being prepared for, and school is coming to an end for the summer. So here is the $100 question: where are all the juniors? We have about 1,400 members representing 1,300 households and I'm supposed to believe that there are no juniors in these households? Come on! ARPC has junior programs with no participants or only a few juniors participating. Our trap director has shotguns, shotshells, and clay birds but almost no juniors. Our USPSA junior team is looking for more shooters. We have a couple of junior rifle teams that are doing awesome things.

So come on Moms, Dads, Grandmas and Grandpa. They are the next generation of shooters and we barely have enough juniors to fill a maxi-van. Call the club office, send an e-mail or contact me and I'll help you find a shooting discipline for your juniors. I grew up shooting on a junior rifle team, I competed for six years, I had a great time, and made a lot of friends. Give your juniors a little push to participate you won't be sorry you did.

I have one more thing that I would like to cover. If you find something on the range that is not yours please turn it in to the office, and if there is nobody at the office leave a note attached to the item explaining where and when you found it. When you take something from the range that is not yours, you are stealing it. There is no "you lost it, I found it, therefore it is mine". It doesn't work that way. I had purchased some bullets from another member who left them at the club on the indoor range on the evening of Thursday, February 12, for me to pick up on the morning of Saturday the 14th and when I got there, they were gone! It was a box of 500 230 grain, .45 caliber lead bullets. We have done this on several occasions during the past few years and all was fine. Sadly this is not an option any longer due to the "I found it" mentality that a few members possess. Please be courteous to fellow members and take home only what is rightfully yours.

Don't forget the machine gun shoot in May. See you at the range

MARCH GUN SHOW

The March show surpassed all records for attendance with over 5,900 people coming through the doors over the two days. Handgun, ammo, and primers were in big demand and sales were brisk. The show went off without a hitch and we made lots of money for the club.

We have a great gun show staff that helps make the ARPC show the best GUN show in Oregon. Hopefully the next show goes as well since this last show was Dave Engel's last. Dave took over the show and has built it up over the years to the great event it is today. His dedication, expertise, and thousands of hours of volunteer work will be missed.

His "retirement" leaves a big hole and if there is a member out there that would like to join the gun show committee get in touch with me at 541-738-6613 or nevarc@pacifier.com. The next show will be September 26th and 27th so mark your calendars and get in touch with Debi Parker early for working that show.

This will be Oregon's 150th Birthday. The Fair will be bigger than ever - which means busier. Our location is being moved once again but it looks like we will be in a location that will be even busier than last year, right by an exit so, we will be getting people, quite literally, coming and going.

Please give me a call or an email, Barbara Shew, 541-451-2047, nshew@centurytel.net regarding days/hours, or with questions.

EDITORIAL: NO LONGER JUST PARANOIA

(To all readers of the Saddle Butte Press: normally we do not reprint articles from other sources; however this writer for the online newsletter "Shooting Wire" has hit the nail on the head and we believe the time for action is now. Parts of the original article have been left out due to space limitations. ---Mike McCarter, ARPC). Note, effective March 17, 2009 at 5:15pm EST, the Department of Defense reversed their order due to thousands of letters and the efforts of both Senators from Montana.

For months, anyone who's proffered the position that the Obama Administration was anti-gun has been dismissed as being a variety of things, from sore loser to rampant paranoid. Nonetheless, since assuming office, members of the Obama administration have steadily - and stealthily - moved against firearms and ammunition.

Their only public blunder was Attorney General Holder's saying the "assault weapons ban" needed to be reinstated. Quickly, House Majority Leader Nancy Pelosi - no friend of gun owners - went on record as opposing Holder's suggestion. She went as far as to parrot the words of pro-gun groups, saying the government should enforce the laws on the books today, rather than introducing new laws.

At the same time, the State Department notified Canadian authorities of plans to issue an export ban on "military caliber ammunition" to Canada. That proposed action would prevent the sales of .223, .308 and other military calibers.

Anything passed brings the ultimate goal that much closer.

Last Friday, the anglers and hunters were notified that the National Park Service [NPS] planned to make all lands under their control totally lead-free by 2010. No lead in ammo or fishing tackle.

As we report in today's Outdoor Wire, that decision has kicked off howls of protests - and questions about the NPS trying to usurp states' rights by issuing their unilateral decision with no prior notification. It's definitely not going to be a decision without some serious discussions. That still doesn't mean the NPS will back off on their decision.

All these things are racing along on parallel tracks. Now, many observers - and not just those on the pro-gun side of the discussion - believe the country is hurtling toward a confrontation. In each instance, I've discounted the reports as internet hysteria that has produced breathless notices of "the real-deal on the new assault weapon ban" - or references to HR45 - a gun registration bill that is a prime example of "eyewash legislation". It's [sic] purpose has already been achieved.

Today, however, a report that has nothing to do with rhetoric, hyperbole or rumor.

The Department of Defense has issued a directive that bans the sale of military brass to ammunition re-manufacturers. Without that brass, a very large dent is put into civilian ammunition supplies.

New Defense Reutilization and Marketing Service (DRMS) requirements call for the "mutilation of shell casings". Mutilation, incidentally, is the destruction of the property "to the extent that prevents its reuse or reconstruction". Government officials will determine what constitutes "sufficient mutilation" but it's safe to say that it will no longer be suitable for remanufacturing.

The first word of this latest decision came over the weekend when Georgia Arms' Larry Haynie released a letter notifying him of the new requirement. For a company with an order in for 30,000 pounds of expended military brass in .223, .308 and .50 BMG, that was not a pleasant notification.

Georgia Arms was remanufacturing more than one million rounds of .223 ammunition monthly; selling that ammo on the civilian market to resellers and to government agencies all over the country. Tomorrow, Georgia Arms will start sending cancellation notices for .223 ammunition to law enforcement agencies across the United States. Haynie says he may have to layoff half of his sixty-person workforce.

All of us need to start contacting our elected representatives -and telling them, quite directly, that we're not going to put up with a move that not only curtails access to ammunition (nearly all .223 and .308 manufacturing capacity is tied up to satisfy the needs of the military) for civilians - but wastes taxpayers' money turning usable surplus into scrap metal.

Reducing the ammo brass to scrap reduces the value of the metal/surplus by nearly eighty percent. It also means that recast brass - in shippable form - may be shipped to China, one of the largest markets for U.S. metals on the world market. If this is allowed to go unchallenged, anyone who owns a modern or traditional rifle in .223 or .308 calibers will see the impact- probably sooner than later. "Anyone" in this context means everyone from recreational shooters to law enforcement trainers.

Pulling military brass out of the consumer supply chain means that all the manufacturing capacity being dedicated to meeting the military need will effectively become unavailable to civilians - forever.

Export rulings, lead bans, and brass mutilation orders from separate areas of the federal government look coincidental - on the surface. I'm not big on conspiracy theories - partially because I doubted the new administration would have gotten its collective act together so rapidly.

Seems I've been wrong on that one - and mistakenly using the word "hoard" when talking about the nearly-insatiable demand for ammunition that continues across the country. Today, laying up of ammunition might be better described as prudent preparation for possible problems.

States are beginning to serve notice to the federal government they will not enforce laws that violate individual rights. The federal government seems intent on creating a society with increasingly higher numbers of people dependent on the government for either sustenance or employment. Average citizens are beginning to grow tired of being asked to "tote the note" for others' irresponsibility.

Today, it's important that every reader take time to notify Congress that we - taxpayers - oppose this latest DOD move- and all the other not-so-subtle moves against gun owners. You can contact your elected officials in Washington by going to this webpage <http://www.usa.gov/Contact/Elected.shtml> and following the links to your respective Senator or Congressman.

One key member of the United States Senate is Montana's Senator Max Baucus, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Baucus could make a call to the Pentagon and let them know their budgets might be reexamined if they don't reconsider this latest directive. At that point, the directive might be labeled a "misunderstanding" and rescinded. But it is important that we keep pressure on Congress.

If that means phone calls, e-mails, and letters, let's get that done. If that doesn't produce results, we need to look beyond symbolic gestures like sending tea bags or bringing hundreds of thousands of gun owners to Washington and state capitols to protest.

These are, indeed, uncertain times. But the time for uncertain actions may be passing.

ARPC JUNIOR DIRECTOR

Mike McCarter, current ARPC Executive Director, is the new Junior Director for Albany Rifle and Pistol Club. Mike says, "junior members are one of the most important parts of our club and we want to see juniors participating in every type of shooting sports. My goal will be to increase the number of juniors who shoot at ARPC and develop more junior teams for shooting competitions". 19384

Tuesday, April 23rd, 6pm at the ARPC trap ranch will be the first of the 'Special Introduction to Shooting Sports' meetings for juniors. At this meeting, juniors and their parents will be introduced to the new ARPC Junior Trap shooting program specifically designed to show juniors how to shoot clay target trap shooting. All of the junior meetings are open to anyone -- member or non-member -- of ARPC. Contact Mike McCarter for further information at 541-619-0038.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S COLUMN

As the weather clears and the temperatures warm up ARPC will get very busy. Along with the rising temperatures an occasional attitude reaches the boiling point. Please remember to treat each person on the range the way you want to be treated. If you see something wrong, be polite and talk to your fellow shooter in a civil manner. It is not real smart to get in someone's face when they have a gun in their hand. We are all on the same team: the Albany Rifle and Pistol Club. 19257

Board members know about it. Problems or safety issues not reported can lead to more serious problems at some point in the future. None of us like to create waves but for the benefit of the club please let someone know about a problem.

TWO NEWSLETTER WINNERS!

In the month of March we had two newsletter winners (Larry Lenon won the Techwell grips and Kenneth Harrell won the Sierra Bullets). This month we are giving away two more prizes to lucky newsletter readers.

Check out the articles and if you find your member number by the 10th of April call the club office and let us know. In April we are giving away a Field & Stream watch/Multi-tool and an Under The Gun holster.

FULL-AUTO SHOOT

Spring is coming soon and that means the Saddle Butte Full Auto Shoot is looking for volunteers. As usual, we will need help with setup/take down, attend the gate, take care of targets, tee shirt sales and of course Range Officers. This has always been one of ARPC's big fundraisers (along with the Gun shows), not to mention a great way to fulfill your work bond hours. Don't worry if you don't think you know enough about automatic firearms to help, because we try to pair a rookie with someone who has done this before.

The date for the event is the third weekend of May. Setup will be on Friday, with shooting on Saturday and Sunday, followed by resetting the range on Monday. Volunteers who work BOTH days of the shoot will receive a staff tee shirt (please provide shirt size when signing up to volunteer).

All volunteers for the weekend days will receive a meal discount coupon for lunch. Anyone wishing to volunteer can contact Allen Eriksen at Eriksenor@aol.com, (541-967-4005 weekends) or the club office. Last year was phenomenal, especially when the tank destroyer arrived on the line. Let's make this year even better.

EXEC OFFICER'S REPORT / TRAP

April is upon us! Do you believe it? I do and the rush to get work bond done is about to end. Y'all ever heard about PLAN AHEAD? Works for me... when I do it, that is. All you have to do is put in a couple of hours a month and you have it. Get it done in the summer time and you won't have to try so hard next March. If you work during the weekend and just can't get in work bond, give me a call and I will see what we can do to help you out. Enough of that.

On to a serious subject. If any of our members see something going wrong, whether or not it involves you personally, contact either Mike or me. I only live a couple of miles from the range and my phone number is listed and printed in the newsletter. If you feel you have been wronged or you have a problem, do something about it. It does no good to let the board know about your problem the next week or the next month.

On to target boards. The patterning board over at the shotgun field had someone stand within 10 yards of it and shot the heck out of it. Not only was the target board shot up but the 2x4 was also. Not good. Proper range to shoot for pattern is 40 yards or 25 yards for .410 and open-choked shotguns. The target boards on the main range have a red border around them. Please don't post targets on the red line. We have the line there so a shooter is reminded there is a 2x4 behind the line. It makes it much easier to change the board if the 2x4 is not shot up.

On to Trap. We have been having a hard time with the weather. Wind and rain do not help with attendance. The diehards show up. I am really pleased to see some new members show up and shoot trap. In addition to new members shooting, we had a group representing the United States Marine Corps. We had Boy Scouts show up, This all happened on one day. To say we were busy would be an understatement. But it sure was fun and a pleasure to see the caliber of the young folks joining the Corps. Not only that, but to see all the Boy Scouts enjoying the shooting sports reinforces my belief all is not lost and there is everything to gain by supporting our youth. Let us all keep the youngsters shooting and we all win.

Regarding clean up, you folks are doing a fine job. Some forget to take targets down, but on the whole, everyone is doing a great job cleaning up so the range is looking fine with all things considered. See ya at the range and shoot lots of bullets.

STATE AND NATIONAL FIREARM ISSUES

ARPC is looking at adding a legislative issue page to our website to keep all of our club members updated on recent issues surrounding firearms both on a state and national level.

Keep watching the ARPC website for this addition. If you have any concerns please let us know. There is a lot of false information on the internet both to scare firearm owners and, on occasion, to test the waters to see how people feel about firearm issues. Be sure to check out each story before you pass it on. Those who don't want firearms in the hands of citizens are aware of the tactic. When "wolf" is cried too many times people start to ignore the warnings and it gets easier to push issues past the public.

One of the first issues we want to put up on our web page is the recent incident where a Western Oregon University student was arrested for carrying a concealed handgun (with the proper license) on campus. Some charges were later dropped; however the student was expelled from school. When we have the facts we will get it up on the website.

CLASSIFIED ADS

This section is for members who would like to advertise something for sale or wanted. If the item for sale is a gun, then remember that all gun transfer rules must be followed. The best part of this is it is FREE for members to place an ad.

To place an ad send e-mail to Tony White (ARPC newsletter editor) at whiteaj@live.com. Deadline for the newsletter advertisement is the 15th of the month prior!!!

FOR SALE: HK 91 sporter, minty, fixed stock, 8-10 magazines, scope mount - $2050; Arisaka 7.7 mm Type 99 rifle in excellent condition - $185; Italian 6.5 Carcano carbine in new condition with box of Hornady ammo. Has some claim to fame, as it's the same model used by Lee Harvey Oswald. Oswald was evil and stupid, but he knew his guns. This one is really light and handy - $195; '03-A3 Remington 30-06. Unmodified and excellent outside, very light corrosion near throat of bore - $365; 7.62 x 54 R rifle in "Big 5" condition - $85; FR-8 Mauser carbine in .308, minty. Like the Carcano, very light and handy - but stout recoil with military ammo. This is a cool gun, but not suitable for kids, which is why I purchased it. $315; Marlin 1889 lever action .32-20 with 24" octagonal barrel. Excellent throughout although several screw heads are a bit munged. Light trigger; smooth action. This rifle needs no FFL ever, as is classified an antique. $1125; Winchester 1873 in .22 long caliber - it's a wall-hanger with a story. First repeating .22 rimfire. $800.
